City Manager

Dear Mr Rhodes: Since the dog question remains unsettled, I would like to express my views on the subject. I am a voter & property owner. I live at 9th & Cedar in San Diego, near the park. I have counted as many as nine dogs in a single day, going to the park for their daily evacuations.

One neighbor has two dogs, which go regularly twice a day and do not even wear collars much less be on leashes.

We had for about two years, as neighbors a young Naval Doctor, wife & small child. This Dr's wife told me that she could not take her child to the park to play because of the dog filth that was everywhere. I think living in a city do not need dogs and should not be allowed to keep them, for they are bound to be nuisances.

When a City Council has it the backbone, to pass an ordinance prohibiting public parks being used as rest rooms for dogs, then I think it is time to elect some new Councilmen.
I do not hate dogs - no Conscientious person wants to poison or hurt them, but they should be restricted just as people are restricted.
If a human being should come into any neighborhood, start cutting shrubbery or digging in the lawns, the Citizens would be up in arms & demand that something be done about it.
If you want names of the folks
I have written about, I can & will gladly supply them.

Sincerely
Mrs Lewis Jones.
